MONEY

MATTERS.

A GOOD EDUCATION IS AN INVESTMENT.

Between tuition and books, or the special equipment some programs require, costs can add up. We want to make sure you've got a plan for financial success to support your journey at SAIT.

There are lots of ways to pay for your programs, from your own savings and relying on a good budget, to student loans — including Alberta Student Aid, Canada Apprentice Loans and options under the Canada-Alberta Job Grant — scholarships, bursaries and awards. There are also a number of external funding options and community supports available to students.

INTERNATIONAL FEES

The international tuition rate is charged to students, typically temporary residents on a study permit, who are not exempted or unable to provide documentary proof of exempted status to the Office of The Registrar.

Your tuition is calculated based on the number of courses in which you are registered each semester. Additional courses will result in higher total tuition per year.

WHO PAYS INTERNATIONAL TUITION RATES?

You will pay international tuition rates if you are:

- An international student
- Temporary resident with a study permit, work permit or visitor visa
- Living in Canada but do not have permanent resident or refugee status.

International students on a study permit who become Permanent Residents of Canada, Convention Refugees or Protected Persons may be eligible for a fee reassessment and removal of the international differential fee depending on the effective date of their permanent residency or claim.

You must provide the documents before the first day of classes for the differential fee to be removed for an entire term. The differential fee will be applied to the following semester if you provide the documentation after the first day of classes.

INTERNATIONAL FEES.

Estimated costs are based on the SAIT academic year. Visit SAIT.ca to contact us and learn more about tuition for full-time and part-time studies including costs for international students.

WORKING IN CANADA.

International students can work in Canada while studying, provided they are registered as full-time students at SAIT in a designated learning program.

International students with a valid study permit might be eligible to work while studying without a work permit.

Depending on the program you are enrolled in, you might be able to work on-campus only or both on-campus and off-campus. International students cannot work before their studies begin.
